Types of Articles

Authors must ensure that while submitting the article, it should fall under the appropriate category from the list of options:

1. Original Research – Original research articles should describe confirmed findings and experimental methods should be given with sufficient details for others to verify the work. The length of an original article should describe and interpret the work clearly.
2. Article Review – Review articles, often known as literature reviews or secondary sources, synthesize or assess primary source research. In general, they summarize the status of research in a certain area. Review articles usually focus on presenting and discussing recent developments in a field.
3. Case Study – A case study is a detailed study of a specific area that involves researching a problem, often using an experiment or survey, and providing potential solutions from that research. It is an in-depth look at one research problem, looking at it from different angles and aspects.

Article Format/Structure:

Article text file (ms word/pdf) should start with a title page that shows author affiliations and contact information, identifying the corresponding author with an asterisk. For the main body of the text, there are no specific requirements. It can be organized in a way that best suits the research.

Do not use 'all capital' letter in headings or subheadings, titles or subtitles.

However, the following structure will be suitable in many cases:

1. Abstract: Do not incorporate any references in Abstract. Verify they serve both as a general introduction to the topic and as a brief, non-technical summary of the main results and their implications.
2. Keywords/index terms: There should be appropriate keywords.
3. Introduction: Articulate the objectives of the work and bestow an adequate background, avoiding a detailed literature survey or a summary of the results.
4. Materials and Methods: Specify sufficient particulars to favour the work to be reproduced by an independent researcher. Methods that are already published should be illustrated and indicated by a reference. If quoting directly from a previously published method, use quotation marks and cite the source. Any modifications to existing methods should be proclaimed.
5. Results (with subheadings if applicable): Results should be clear and concise.
6. Discussion (without subheadings): This should explore the significance of the results of the work without repetition. A combined Results and Discussion section is often appropriate. Avoid extensive citations and discussion of published literature.

7. Conclusion: The main conclusions of the study should be presented in a short Conclusions section, which may stand alone or form a subsection of a Discussion or Results and Discussion section.
8. Acknowledgement: Individuals who imparted cooperation during the research (e.g. providing language help, writing assistance, or proof reading the article, etc.) should be listed here.
9. Figures: Serial number of figure should be written in English numerical. Keep text in the illustrations themselves to a minimum but clearly explain all symbols and abbreviations used.
10. Tables: All tables should be editable as text and not as images. Serial number of tables should be given in Roman numerical. Usually does not require any description of tables, avoid duplicity of the data presented in them described elsewhere in the article.
11. References: Ensure that all references mentioned in the reference list are cited in the text and vice versa.

Abstract:

A concise and factual abstract is mandatory. The abstract should be structured, briefly state the intention of the research, the principal results and major conclusions. An abstract is often presented separately from the article, so it must be able to stand alone. It does not require references. Also uncommon abbreviations should be avoided, but if essential they must be defined at their first mention in the abstract itself.

Keywords:

Promptly after the abstract, bestow a maximum of 6 keywords, using American spelling and avoid general and plural terms and multiple concepts (avoid, for example, 'and', 'of'). Be sparing with abbreviations: only abbreviations firmly established in the field will be eligible. These keywords will be used for indexing purposes.

Cover Letter:

The submission must also comprise a cover letter. In the cover letter, author should incorporate:

1. The affiliation, and contact information of the corresponding author.
2. The Affiliation of all co-authors.
3. Declare that the submitted article was not published before in any other journal.

Methods:

If author is reporting experiments on live vertebrates (or higher invertebrates), humans or human samples, author must comprise a statement of ethical approval in the Methods

References:

Edit references are not copied. Therefore, it is essential that the author formats them accurately, as they will be linked electronically to external databases where feasible. So, when formatting references, ensure that:

1. Run sequentially (and are always numerical).
2. Only have one publication associated to each number.
3. Only comprise articles or datasets that have been published or accepted by a named publication, recognized preprint server or data repository (if author include any preprints of accepted papers in reference list, ensure to submit them with the article).
4. Incorporate published conference abstracts and numbered patents if authors wish.

In reference list, author should:

1. Incorporate all authors unless there are six or more, in that case 6 author should be mentioned, followed by 'et al.'
2. Classify authors by last name first, followed by a comma and initials (followed by full stops) of given names.
3. Adopt Roman text for Article and dataset titles, with only the first word of the title having an initial capital and written exactly as it appears in the work cited ending with a full stop.

4. Apply Italics for book titles, giving all words in the title an initial capital.
5. Apply Italics for journal and data repository names, abbreviating them according to common usage (with full stops).
6. Contribute the full-page range (or article number) where appropriate.
