What type of personal data do we handle?

There are four main categories of personal data stored by our journal platform, our press platform, and our book management system; Website User data, Author data, Reviewer data and Editor data.

The minimum personal data that are stored are:

- full name
- email address
- affiliation (department, and institution)
- country of residence

Optionally, the user can provide:

- salutation
- associated URL
- phone number
- reviewing interests
- mailing address
- ORCID
- Google Scholar
- profile picture

What do we do to keep that data secure?

We regularly backup our databases, and we use reliable cloud service providers (Amazon, Google Cloud, Linode) to ensure they are kept securely. Backups are regularly rotated and the old data is permanently deleted. We have a clear internal data handling policy, restricting access to the data and backups to key employees only. In case of a data breach, we will report the breach to the affected users, and to the press/journal contacts within 72 hours.

How do we use the data?

Personal information is only used to deliver the services provided by the publisher. Personal data is not shared externally except for author names, affiliations, emails, and links to ORCID and social media accounts (if provided) in published articles and books which are displayed as part of the article/book and shared externally to indexes and databases. If a journal operates under open peer review then the reviewer details are published alongside the reviewer details.

2. When registering as an author and submitting an article or book

2.1 what data we collect

- When registering an account we ask you to log in and provide certain personal information (such as your name and email address), and there is the option to register using an ORCID which will pre-fill the registration form.
- As part of submitting an article for publication, you will need to provide personally identifying information which will be used for the peer review process, and will be published. This can include 'Affiliation' 'Competing' 'interests', 'Acknowledgements'.

2.2 why we collect the data

- Registering an account allows you to log in, manage your profile, and participate as an author/reviewer/editor. We use cookies and session information to streamline your use of the website (for example in order for you to remain logged-in when you return to a journal). You can block or delete cookies and still be able to use the websites, although if you do you will then need to enter your username and password to login. In order to take advantage of certain features of the websites, you may also choose to provide us with other personal information, such as your ORCID, but your decision to utilize these features and provide such data will always be voluntary.
- Personal data submitted with the article or book is collected to allow follow good publication ethics during the review process, and will form part of the official published record in order for the provenance of the work to be established, and for the work to be correctly attributed.

2.3 what we do (and don't do) with the data

- We do not share your personal information with third parties, other than as part of providing the publishing service.
- As a registered author in the system you may be contacted by the journal editor to submit another article.

- Any books published on the platform are freely available to download from the publisher website in PDF, EPUB and MOBI formats on the publisher's site.
- Any personal data accompanying an article or a book (that will have been added by the submitting author) is published alongside it. The published data includes the names, affiliations and email addresses of all authors.
- Any articles published on the platform are freely available to download from the publisher website in various formats (e.g. PDF, XML).
- Ubiquity Press books and articles are typeset by SiliconChips and Diacritch. This process involves them receiving the book and book associated metadata and contacting the authors to finalise the layout. Ubiquity Press work with these suppliers to ensure that personal data is only used for the purposes of typesetting and proofing.
- For physical purchases of books on the platform Ubiquity Press use print on demand services via Lightning Source who are responsible for printing and distribution via retailers. (For example; Amazon, Book Repository, Waterstones). Lightning Source's privacy policy and details on data handling can be found on their website.

2.4 why we store the data

- We store the account data so that you may choose to become a reviewer and be able to perform those tasks, or to become an author and submit an article and then track progress of that article.
- Published personal data that accompanies an article or a book forms part of the official published record in order for the provenance of the work to be established, and for the work to be correctly attributed.

2.5 what to do if you want to get a copy of your data, or want your data to be removed

- You are able to view, change and remove your data associated with your profile. Should you choose to completely delete your account, please contact us at support@ubiquitypress.com and we will follow up with your request as soon as possible.
- To conform to publication ethics and best practice any personal data that is published alongside an article or book cannot be removed. If you have a query about a publication to which you are attributed please contact info@ubiquitypress.com

3. When registering as a reviewer

3.1 what data we collect

- To become a reviewer you must first register as a user on the website, and set your preference that you would like to be considered as a reviewer. No new personal data is collected when a registered user elects to become a reviewer.
- When registering an account we ask you to log in and provide certain personal information (such as your name and email address), and there is the option to register using an ORCID which will pre-fill the registration form.
- Reviewers can also be registered by editors who invite them to review a specific article. This requires the editor to provide the reviewer's First Name, Last Name, and Email address. Normally this will be done as part of the process of inviting you to review the article or book.
- On submitting a review, the reviewer includes a competing interest statement, they may answer questions about the quality of the article, and they will submit their recommendation.

3.2 why we collect the data

- The data entered is used to invite the reviewer to peer review the article or book, and to contact the reviewer during and the review process.
- If you submit a review then the details of your review, including your recommendation, your responses to any review form, your free-form responses, your competing interests statement, and any cover letter are recorded.

3.3 what we do (and don't do) with the data

- This data is not shared publicly and is only accessible by the Editor and system administrators of that journal or press.
- The data will only be used in connection with that journal or press.
- Data that is retained post final decision is kept to conform to publication ethics and best practice, to provide evidence of peer review, and to resolve any disputes relating to the peer review of the article or book.

- For journals or presses that publish the peer reviews, you will be asked to give consent to your review being published, and a subset of the data you have submitted will become part of the published record.

3.4 what to do if you want to get a copy of your data, or want your data to be removed

- If you would no longer like to be registered as a reviewer you can edit your profile and tick the box 'stop being a reviewer'. This will remove you from the reviewer database, however any existing reviews you may have carried out will remain.
- If you have been contacted by an editor to peer review an article this means that you have been registered in the system. If you would not like to be contacted for peer review you can reply to the email requesting that your data be deleted.

4. When being registered as a co-author

4.1 what data we collect

- Co-author data is entered by the submitting author. The submitting author will already have a user account. According to standard publishing practice, the submitting author is responsible for obtaining the consent of their co-authors to be included (including having their personal data included) in the article/book being submitted to the journal/press.
- The requested personal data for co-authors are at the bare minimum; first name, last name, institution, country, email address. This can also include; ORCID ID, Title, Middle Name, Biographical Statement, Department, Twitter Handle, Linkedin Profile Name or ImpactStory ID.

4.2 why we collect the data

- Assuming that it is accepted for publication, this data forms part of the official published record in order for the provenance of the work to be established, and for the work to be correctly attributed.
- Author names, affiliations and emails are required for publication and will become part of the permanent cited record.

4.3 what we do (and don't do) with the data

- The co-author's personal data is stored in the author database. This personal data is only used in relation to the publication of the associated article.
- Any co-author data collected is added to the author database and is only used in association with the article the user is co-author on.

Notification about change of ownership or of control of data

We may choose to buy or sell assets. In the case that control of data changes to or from Ubiquity Press and a third party or in the case of change of ownership of Ubiquity Press or of part of the business where the control of personal data is transferred, we will do our best to inform all affected users and present the options.
